Car care crucial in the cold

BY FRANKI BONNER

CLOCKTOWER CHRONICLE STAFF armer days may be on the way, but students should still be prepared if their vehicle breaks down. Extended forecasts show a low of 15 degrees tomorrow, Feb. 15. Being stuck in that kind of weather for an extended period of time is danger-

The Clocktower Chronicle decided to ask Shannon Perkins, automotive technology professor at Rend Lake College, about how to properly care for a person's car in the winter.

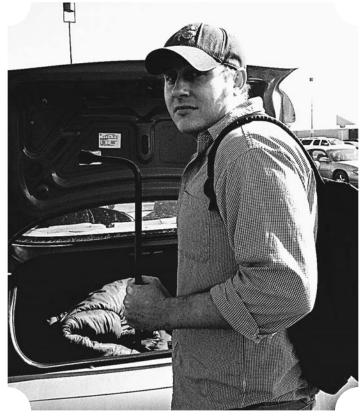

"Tire pressure, wiper blades and fluids," Perkins replied. According to Perkins, a person needs to maintain their tire pressure at the correct level that it is needed and that level is about 25 to 32 psi. Anywhere in that range, the pressure is well- maintained, he said, adding that having the right level of fluids is an absolute must in winter conditions, along with damage-free wiper blades. Perkins also provided a list of some supplies drivers should consider stowing away in case they were to breakdown.

"An emergency kit," he said. Emergency kits like this contain an assortment of things such as a set of jumper cables, road-side flares, a flashlight, a blanket, and a first-aid kit. He also recommended that a person keep a bottle of water and a non-perishable food item in their car.

After talking to Perkins, it was time to venture out on campus and see if some RLC students were prepared for their car to breakdown.

RLC fitness centers beefing up 'Lose to Win' with TV giveaway

BY DYMIN HAYES

CLOCKTOWER CHRONICLE STAFF end Lake College is sweetening the pot for the Crossroads Community Hospital "Lose to Win Challenge!"

RLC has generously bought five 32" LCD televisions for those who are participating in the challenge. To be eligible for the drawing, those competing in the contest now _ they started earlier this year can complete 10 hours at the RLC Market-Place Fitness Center, Ina

Once they complete their hours, their name will be added to the drawing to win a TV. Not only is it a great motivator to reach their weight loss efforts, but contestants can also gain college credit.

"I think it's great that Rend Lake College is able to add something to this successful local fitness program," said Tony Etnier, director of RLC Fitness Centers. "I think these televisions are great incentives for these individuals to reach their weight loss goals. And by getting involved with RLC's fitness center, they can earn college credit. That's a real win-win."

To those involved, keep working hard because the drawing will be held around March 8, after the conclusion of the contest!

What happens in the darkness?

BY CARRIE CLOVER

CLOCKTOWER CHRONICLE STAFF f you have ever been to a theatrical production, you may have noticed a ring of darkness edging the lit-up stage. Hopefully though, your attention was drawn only to the action on the stage and you were able to immerse yourself in the world of the play. However, the darkness is there and in it lurks a rarely seen creature — the theatre techies.

They are a rare breed who dress all in black and scurry around in the darkness backstage, barely speaking and, when they do, only in a whisper. Weeks before the production is seen by the public, while the actors are busy memorizing lines and working on blocking, the techies are building sets, sewing costumes, designing makeup and gathering props. I spoke with Veronica Justice, and 18-yearold musical theatre major who is taking the Technical Theatre class and is also a cast member of the upcoming spring musical, "Into The Woods." She has a lot of stage experience, acting since the eighth grade. However, this is her first time doing anything technical for a show.

"It really makes you appreciate it more as an actor, and I think It's actually a lot more fun and interesting to act on a set you can say you helped build," said Justice.

The Theatre Tech class uses their class periods to learn about set design and set building while they are building the set for "Into The Woods." The class is taught by Therese Melena, who makes sure every student gets a chance to try the different aspects of putting scenery together.

In most theatrical productions, the cast and crew do not meet until one to two weeks before the show begins. They do a full week of tech and dress rehearsal in order to work out all the kinks and make sure that the cast and crew are ready to run the show. The joint effort of the crew and cast allow the show to run like a well-oiled machine.

So, the next time you see a show, know that there is a gaggle of people backstage who, hopefully, you will never see. But without them, you would see nothing at all.

A few facts & superstitions about Valentine's Day

METRO CREATIVE CONNECTION ■ very Feb. 14, people around the world exchange gifts, chocolates and romantic greetings for a day set aside for lovers. Many traditions are followed, all in the name of St. Valentine. Still, people may not understand why such customs are upheld. Much of the history of Valentine's Day and St. Valentine himself is shrouded in mystery, and much of what's widely accepted is inaccurate. To set the record straight, here are some facts about the holiday.

 Valentine's Day is believed to have originated from a celebration in Rome during the fifth century. This celebration paid tribute to St. Valentine, a Catholic priest. Other historians surmise it was a way to "Christianize" the pagan holiday of Lupercalia, which was a fertility festival. Included in the traditions were boys and girls drawing names from a box and exchanging

 Some tales suggest that the type of bird a girl watches on Valentine's Day predicts her future husband. A bluebird indicates a happy man, while a sparrow indicates a poor man.

Warriors beat The Trail on last leg of regular season

Editor's Note: The Warriors lost 66-62 to Danville Area and beat SWIC 82-77 on Feb. 9 to take the lead in the conference.

ed by Montez Williams (East St. Louis) with 15 points, ■the Rend Lake College Warriors had 11 players contribute to the scoring column — three with double digits — in its 73-68 win at Lincoln Trail on Saturday. The win puts RLC in a tie for the top spot in the Great Rivers Athletic Conference. RLC, now 16-2 overall and 8-2 in the GRAC, is lockstep with Southwestern Illinois College (15-5-1) and will head to Danville Area Community College on Wednesday. It's an important game for the Warriors, since it will help paint the postseason picture in the National Junior College Athletic Association's DII Region XXIV Tournament. The winner of that tournament will move on to nationals.

"That's a big game for us at Danville," said RLC Assistant Coach Tommy Holder. "They are up there with us as one of the top teams in the region."

DACC is 20-3 overall and 5-0 against opponents in the Midwest Athletic Conference. Teams in that conference include Parkland (13-8, 0-4), Lincoln Land (13-9, 0-3), Lincoln (15-9, 2-2), John Wood, (16-6, 3-1), Illinois Central (14-11, 1-1) and DACC. Those are also the teams Rend Lake might face in the Region XXIV Tournament, which is being hosted by John Wood this year and will run March 8-10 in Quincy.

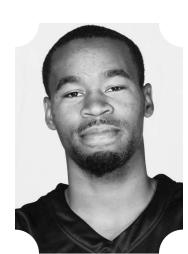

The region tournament is most likely a small blip on RLC Head Coach Randy House's radar right now. It will definitely grow as the Warriors go through its nine remaining games in the regular season. But for now, the odds are Rend Lake is hungry for a conference championship. Six of the DII program's remaining games are against DI foes in the GRAC.

After Danville, Rend Lake will head to SWIC on Feb. 9. The Blue Storm beat RLC 79-62 on Jan. 7. Then it's back home against Southeastern Illinois on Feb. 13. RLC won its first meeting with the Falcons, 69-50, on Jan. 9. Rend Lake will play at Kaskaskia on Feb. 16. The Blue Devils will be looking to avenge its 80-74 loss to the Warriors on Jan. 12. On Feb. 18. the Warriors will play at Olney Central. RLC won 78-66 when it hosted the Knights on Jan. 16.

RLC's Homecoming game is Feb. 20 against Wabash Valley. Rend Lake took the first War of the Warriors, 81-76, on Jan. 19. Rend Lake's last conference game will be at John A. Logan on Feb. 23. The Warriors will attempt to repeat its 87-64 routing of the Volunteers on Jan. 21 at

The final two games of Rend Lake's regular season are Feb. 27 at Lincoln College and Feb. 28 at John Wood. Both will have Freshman center Montez Williams (East St. Louis) led the Warriors with 15 in its 73-68 conference win over Lincoln Trail on Feb. 2. RLC has nine games remaining in the reqular season, six of which are against GRAC opponents.
