Phase II Progresses

Visiting students have probably been wondering what those strange buildings and brick walls around the campus are. Five new buildings are being erected that will add to the completion of Rend Lake College.

By the fall of 1973 the walls being put up on the east side of the RLC campus will be shaped into the new Administration building. The Administrative offices presently on the north side of the campus will be converted into more classrooms. The Student Center bldg. will house many activities important to RLC students, among these, offices for the PRESSING TIMES, TARN, Student Senate, and a larger four service cafeteria (hallelujah!).

The building site on the west side of the campus is the new Vo-Af building. When finished, this building will provide classrooms for Vo-Tech and Ag-Tech courses offered by RLC.

In the same general area there will also be another Oasis exactly like the one to the south. The present library site in the Science building will be converted into a nurses operating room technique lab.

The new Learning Resource Center being constructed on the north side of the present Academic building will allow students a better look at what a large college will present to them. This building will contain: a large library, a 400 seat theatre for drama students and a large studio for art students.

When the buildings now under construction are completed, RLC will have a total of ten major buildings, including the new warehouse, with a total capacity for 1400 students.

Reader's Theatre performs in Oasis

Rend Lake College features just about any activity that you as a future student could possibly want to join.

Each year at Rend Lake an election is held to elect students to the Student Senate. These are open elections and any student can run for office.

The Student Senate is responsible for sponsoring dances, representing the students demands and many other activities, among these is the convocations held each Wednesday at 12:00 noon. These convocations have featured everything from an ESP specialist to drug seminars and can be interesting if you as future students participate.

There are three major publications at RLC: PRESSING TIMES, a bi-weekly paper written, pasted up and distributed by students here. Phase III, is a literary supplement that features poems, photography, and stories submitted by the students. The TARN, your student yearbook, is paid for by your activity fee.

The Couth Club is another of RLC's many varied clubs that might interest students. It is an organization that helps with community relations here at the college. Examples of their activities include getting pledges for the blood mobile, and escorting possible future students around the campus.

Veterans with any problems concerning education can join the Vets Club. Currently the Vet Club is reorganizing.

Couth Club register blood donor pledges

Students with a 3.5 or above on Rend Lake's 4.0 scale qualify for Phi Theta Kappa, a well known scholarly organization.

Student Education Association for future teachers is an educational club to join. This group sponsors used book sales to help students cut down on the price of new books.

Drama is an open invitation to all students who have talent in the field of acting. The drama department puts out several plays each year. Readers Theatre is a facet of drama in which students can demonstrate their reading abilities. If you can't act there is always room for stage managers.

If you join the Collegiate Choir, you can obtain an extra 1/2 hour credit. A lot of hard work is involved but if you can sing it can be fun. Rend Lake College has been accredited for its accomplishments in the field of music.

Andre McReynolds teaches the Karate class at 12:00 noon in the gym. Andre holds a third degree black belt in Karate. If you have an interest and a willingness to learn, join the Karate Club.

In addition to these activities Rend Lake provides numerous intramural activities in which you receive a 1/2 hour credit for participating (see the back page).

RLC's Library

Used by many, ignored by some, but available to all college personnel, the library, with its materials and services, is located this year in the north part of the science building. Hopefully by the fall of 1973 the library will be located in the new Learning Resource Center.

Resources are many and varied. They include books, film-loops, filmstrips, magazines, newspapers, slides, tapes, transparencies, and records in addition to staff, both professional and supportive. Recently a new coin operated Xerox copying machine has been added.

Services include assistance with reference and research problems, copying of materials, interlibrary loans, and student production of audiovisuals. Facilities include equipment for viewing and listening, individual study carrels, and rooms for typing.

Hours are 7:45 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. On stated campus-wide holidays, the library is closed; however, it is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. during vacation periods. The student identification card is the required library borrower's card for all registered at Rend Lake College.

The library's main purpose is to support instruction; therefore, students are invited to begin early in the year to familiarize themselves with the library facilities.

The library's staff are constantly adding new technologies in running the library to further aid the student in his educational needs.

Mr. David Patton, audiovisual director, and Ms. Imogene Book, director of the library, are on duty daily in the library, and can usually be consulted without a previous appointment.

Ms. Imogene Book, director of the library here at Rend Lake is always at your assistance with the aid of Ms. Polly Dulaney, Ms. Cathy Karcher and several student workers. They will help you locate books, microfilm, periodicals, and general assistance.

Mr. David Patton, director of audio-visual department here at RLC is always on hand to lend students help in producing special assignments for classes. Anything from taping to producing a video tape production in his specialty. He is assisted by two student helpers, Mary Simpson and Jim Justis.

WARRIORS CAPTURE CONFERENCE TITLE

The Rend Lake College Warriors became undisputed champions of the Southern Illinois College Conference last Thursday, Feb. 15. The host Warriors handily defeated the Wabash Valley Warriors 74 to 42.

The win not only iced the conference for the RLC Warriors, but it also tied a school record of 18 victories in a season.

Rend Lake had the game in tack from the beginning. The Warriors took the opening tip-off and ran off six straight points. From there the RLC Warriors never looked back.

Mid-way through the first half Rend Lake had built a 14 point margin over Wabash Valley and settled for a halftime lead of 30 to 20.

In the second half, the RLC Warriors applied a most successful defense to where the WVC Warriors could manage only five points in the first 13 minutes of the half. By this time Rend Lake had opened up a comfortable 34 point lead.

Rend Lake finally won the contest, 74 to 42 thus securing the SICC championship.

A total of ten RLC players got into the scoring act with Sonny Wyatt leading the pack with 14 points. Roy Rieckenberg and Randy Lemay each hit in double figures with 11 and ten respectively.

Mike Miller paced Wabash with 14 points while Rich Larose had ten.

Coach Jim Waugh credited the win to a good defense by the team and naturally was pleased to win the conference.

Score by Halves:

MVC .....	20	22-42
RLC .....	30	44-74

Scoring for RLC: Wyatt 14, Rieckenberg 11, Lemay 10, Kretz 8, Hayes 8, Rankin 8, Weathers 6, Bradshaw 5, Smith 2, Henderson 2.

Scoring for WVC: Miller 14, Larose 10, Pifer 8, Hagler 4, Newkirk 4, Webb 2.
