Student Art Show kicks off with awards night

BY REANNE PALMER

RLC PUBLIC INFORMATION

More than 110 pieces of art are on display in the Rend Lake College Theatre Lobby after the start of the 2015 Student Art Show last week. During the Awards Ceremony, approximately $1,500 was awarded in prizes, scholarships, and tuition waivers to local students.

World-renown artist Najjarr Abdul-Musawwir, lead fine arts instructor at Southern Illinois University Carbondale, was also on hand to judge the event and hand out the Best of Show and Best of Portfolio awards. The Student Art Show will be located in the Theatre until Friday, May 8.

Three high school students were awarded Art Tuition Waivers to attend RLC next year. They are Autumn Breeze of Waltonville High School (WHS), Alyssa Fox of Thompsonville High School (THS), and Tonya Gulliksen of Benton Consolidated High School (BCHS).

The Rend Lake College Foundation also awarded several awards and scholarships. The RLC Foundation Art Show Award went to Sue Good (McLeansboro) for "Whirlpool Galaxy," the Dr. Evelyn Claxton Art Scholarship Award went to Allen H. Evans (Pinckneyville) for "Jekyll N. Hyde," Best of Ceramics and Sculptor went to Casey Brandt (Mt. Vernon) for "Reaching Elephant," the Adam Lee Lorraine Memorial Scholarship went to Hannah

Brannan (Thompsonville) and Keri Hartleb (Mulkeytown) for "Nude #1," and the Alyssa Dawn Lorraine Memorial Scholarship went to Keri Hartleb (Mulkeytown) for "Aura."

RLC student Casey Brandt (Mt. Vernon) also won the Purchase Award for her piece "Dark Waters." The art will be purchased by the college and hung on the walls across campus.

Judge Abdul-Musawwir said the show was very hard to judge this year as he awarded the Best of Show to Sue Good (McLeansboro) for "Path of Destruction" and Best of Portfolio to Taylor Blankenship (Mulkeytown). As an artist who has shown work on four different continents, Abdul-Musawwir said the work at RLC is "some of the best" he's ever seen.

RLC offering trip to Costa Rica

BY BILLY MCPHERSON

CLOCKTOWER CHRONICLE STAFFWRITER

Are you tired and stressed out? How does a nice tropical getaway sound? What if you could get three college credit hours in the process while you sip your Mojito in the warm relaxing sun? Well then, Costa Rica may just be the place for you next spring.

The trip is being provided and overseen by Education First in conjunction with Rend Lake College International Studies. According to their website at www.EF.com, Education First is the world leader in educational tours and international education.

Associate Professor of Sociology Sarah Draper said the trip is being offered as a Social Science class called SOSC 2101. Draper noted that it is a meticulously planned, nine-day trip that will explore the exotic environment and rich culture of Costa Rica. Each day is filled with many planned activities overseen by an expert tour guide to showcase the diversity of the region.

Draper stated that the trip begins in the colorful capital city of San Jose. According to the itinerary provided by EF, during the nine-day experience, students will be exposed to a world of biological diversity. Among the activities listed is a visit to the stunning INBioparque natural favorite agriculture professors about running for Student Trustee.

"My Ag Professor Kathy Craig asked me to run, and I'd have to say that was a very proud moment for me," said Pytlinski. "I think it will be very cool to represent the Ag Department and all the Rend Lake College students together, and to be their voice."

RLC Board of Trustees Chairman Eric Black said he hopes the best for Liske as he graduates next month and continues his education. He added that Pytlinski is already doing well with her new seat on the board.

"Eli has been an absolute pleasure to work with on the board. He asked good questions and he looked at everything from both the student and the board perspective. We hope the best for him as he continues on," said Black. "As for Claire, I just met her tonight, but she's already made a motion in the board meeting, so I'm sure she'll be a great asset. I'm looking forward to having her on the board."

Pytlinski's future plans include transferring to a four-year university to get a degree in Agricultural Communications or Marketing. Outside of school, Pytlinski enjoys all-things outdoors, especially helping on the family farm, bow hunting, and fishing. She says without the support of her friends and family, she wouldn't be where she is today.

"I really like taking pictures outdoors, and I often take pictures of equipment on my family's farm and then edit them. With that, I'd like to become a marketing specialist or work for an agricultural magazine," said Pytlinski. "Without my friends, family, and the Ag Department behind me in everything I do, I couldn't be where I am today. I'm looking forward to this awesome opportunity."

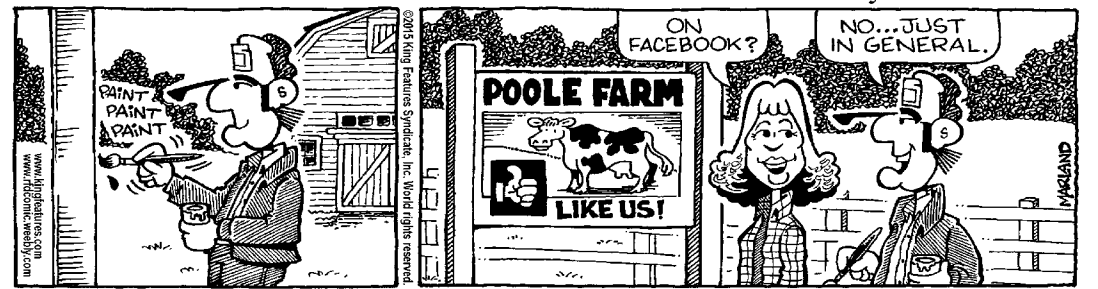

Liske served as the Student Trustee from April 2014 until the meeting on Tuesday, April 14, 2015. He is the son of Beth Liske of Okawville and Andy Liske of Covington. The Ag Production and Mechanics major plans to study agriculture education at Murray State University next year. He was also named RLC Homecoming King alongside Pytlinski in February.

RLC President Terry Wilkerson added, "Claire is a bright young lady with a bright future. This experience always helps students expand their horizons, and for us, they bring a good perspective to the board. I'm looking forward to working with her this year."

and discuss the arts, because artists show a lot of potential to solve the problems of the world by being creative," said Abdul-Musawwir. "I've traveled around the world, and some of the art I've seen at this particular college is some of the best art I've seen. I hope everyone who sees this exhibit will continue to support the arts and notice all the talent we have in Southern Illinois. Art is the foundation of everything that exists.
